

Self-reliance support system for needy persons (When you have trouble making a living)

Self-reliance support system for needy persons

The target persons of this system are persons who have fallen into distress due to reasons such as losing a job, coming to an impasse in job-hunting, falling into a difficult state both physically and mentally, or having difficult relationship with the local community. The object of this support system is to “promote the self-reliance” of needy persons through supportive measures such as consultation for self-reliance and job assistance.

There are two support systems. One is the consultation service for the economic and social self-reliance and the other is the support of the house rent of one’s housing (housing procurement benefit)

Eligible person for this system

A resident of Nishinomiya City who is in needy state and not receiving social security (benefits)

The flow of the supportive consultation

- (1) At the consultation counter, the consultant will confirm the current state of the consuler and sort out the problems.
- (2) In order to provide necessary support to solve these problems, the consultant will create a supportive plan for self-reliance according to the consuler’s intention.
- (3) The support based on the supportive plan will be carried out with the cooperation of organizations concerned.
